

EMPOWER PARTNERS

For the past 10 years, we have helped young women and girls survive the death of their mothers. We've helped them realize that they are not alone. We've brought together countless women and girls from around the globe to meet with, be mentored by, and become friends and family with other women and girls who have had the same experience of losing a mother.

We've had so many people ask us – "why don't you offer programs for boys who have lost a father, or a mother? Girls who have lost a dad? Children of any gender who have lost a parent?" We heard you; we heard that crying need.

And so, now Empower is an international nonprofit with a very specific mission – to empower, support, and connect children and young adults who have experienced the loss of a parent. We provide IN-PERSON EVENTS and a unique MENTOR PROGRAM with positive role models from the community who help show the children that "loss is survivable."

Empower programs are non-therapeutic, community-based, and volunteer-driven and remain at no charge to the family.

“ I was nine years old when my mother Kit died of breast cancer and I grew up desperate to meet another girl just like me. All I ever wanted to do was take girls away on Mother’s Day to show them they weren’t alone in their grief. Today, we get to do just that and more ”

Founder + CEO, Cara Belvin

3 GRIEF-CARE PROTECTIVE FACTORS essential for healthy development include: Caring Community, Positive Role Models, and Peer Support. Loss during childhood often results in profound stress and adversity and without appropriate support, the loss may derail a young girl’s development. Access to these 3 grief-care protective factors is essential.
